A GOOD FRIEND

A good friend stands by you when in need. Norway people tell how Doan's Kidney Pills have stood the test. Mr. Needham endorsed Doan's over seven years ago and again confirms the story. Could you ask for more convincing testimony?

Wm. O. Needham, retired farmer, Main St., Norway, says: "At different times, when I have taken cold, my kidneys have become affected. Several years ago when I felt that my kidneys needed a tonic, I used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from F. P. Stone's Drug Store. They strengthened my kidneys, acid and in a short time I felt much better."

The above statement was given July 24, 1908 and on June 6, 1916, Mr. Needham said: "I can still endorse Doan's Kidney Pills and give you permission to continue using my recommendation. My confidence in them is as strong as ever. I occasionally use Doan's Kidney Pills when I feel in need of them and always get fine results."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Needham has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

SLEEPLESSNESS

Often goes with INDIGESTION

If you eat a hearty meal at night, especially when tired at the end of a hard day, and then go to bed after sitting quietly in a close room for a few hours, troubled sleep is quite likely to follow. If you can get the habit of taking a brisk walk of thirty or forty minutes in good, fresh, outdoor air after supper, you are less likely to suffer from disturbed sleep or nightmare.

But, if the weather should prevent the walk, a teaspoonful of "F. F." At-

SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT

Civil business at this session was a slow process with little for the traverse jury to consider.

The case of Henry N. Burbank, administrator, vs. Albert J. Howard was tried with Hastings & Sons and James S. Wright for plaintiff, William Lyons of Westbrook for defendant. The action was to recover the value of a horse, eight years old, belonging to the estate of the late Francis L. Watson of East Hiram, said horse being kept by Howard until killed recently. After deliberating half an hour the jury returned a verdict of $42.52 in favor of the plaintiff.

Two cases against B. Frank Elwell of Paris, and the Wheeler Lumber Co., trustee, the plaintiff in one case being D. H. Fiddis and in the other, Wright on defendant. For two winters Elwell operated on a lot in Summer belonging to Frank A. Paine of Oxford, his brother-in-law, and some of the lumber was sold to the Wheeler Lumber Co., which has been trusted in this case. Frank A. Paine has put in a claim that he was the owner of the lumber, so that the pay for it should go to him. The question at issue in this hearing was whether Elwell was acting simply as agent for Paine in the operation, or was a partner with him in the enterprise. The hearing was not concluded, and was continued to a later day of the term.

At a meeting of the Bar Association, the question of the arrangement of terms of court for the county, and the attendance of the grand jury, was vigorously threshed out. As is generally known, two or more bills have been introduced in the legislature bearing on this matter. After discussion, a resolution was passed, favoring the changing of the present March term of court to February, so that the terms will be held at South Paris on the second Tuesday of February and the second Tuesday of October, and at Rumford on the second Tuesday of May, all three to be grand jury terms. It is expected that this action of the association will be accepted in the legislature, and a law enacted accordingly.

The Grand Jury reported at 8 a. m. Saturday morning, bringing in nearly a hundred indictments, naming at least fifty respondents. Liquor nuisances predominate with gambling and serious charges mixed in.

Albert B. Bean of Waterford was indicted on two counts, being charged with the murder of his daughter, Inez, by an illegal operation and adultery. His trial has been set for Friday. Albert G. Wentworth of Island Pond, conductor on the east bound freight train which was in collision between West Bethel and Gil-land Dec. 24, was not indicted. Wentworth is a popular fellow on the Grand Trunk, and the good news spread rapidly. In his home town the demonstration was enthusiastic and bordered on a typical celebration upon his return.

The list of indictments made public are as follows:

- Albert B. Bean, murder.
- Joe Bock, abandoning wife and children.
- Gaubeigau Barillo, 2, common seller and nuisance.

FRYEBURG

Several from Fryeburg attended the Patriotic meeting in Portland last Friday. J. W. Hubbard and wife, W. R. Tarbox and wife, and T. L. Eastman. C. T. Ladd purchased the house on Main street known for years as the Elbridge Osgood house, but recently owned and occupied by J. W. Hubbard. Mr. Hubbard is quite undecided where he will go but it is earnestly hoped he will remain in Fryeburg.

Mrs. James Wiley has been ill the past weeks. Mrs. Alfred Nicholls has also been confined to the house.

The Universalists are to hire Rev. Hoyt for another year, as it was clearly demonstrated that his services had been very helpful. A business meeting was held at the home of May Hastings one day recently and a committee chosen to arrange their business for the coming year.

B. T. Newman and wife and W. R. Tarbox and wife attended a reception ordered to Mrs. E. A. G. Stickney of Brownfield, March 16th, it being Mrs. Stickney's 80th birthday.

Notwithstanding the cold and blue birds have been seen, we still have a most wintry aspect in Fryeburg.

Maude Irish, milliner, is in Boston selecting spring hats.

Mrs. Minnie Bradley Mattson and husband of Philadelphia and Fryeburg are sojourning at St. Petersburg, Florida.

Thomas Harmon of Brownfield recently bought the large barn on the John Thomas lot and had it taken down and drawn to Brownfield and Fred Haley is to put it together on the lot where Mr. Harmon is to rebuild. There were several loads of good lumber. Fred Haley is one of Fryeburg's best carpenters and is always busy, his word is good, as well as his work.

marched in to the old patriotic song of "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp, the Boys are Marching", with Mrs. Ada D. Flint at the piano and Harry E. Smith, trap drum.
After taking their places at the table,
while standing, all joined in singing
"America". Grace was asked by the tional anthem, "The Star Spangled Banner."Toast master, Joseph Pitts of the Har-

ASSERTS TANLAC WILL HELP WHEN GIVEN FAIR SHOW

Auburn Man Recommends It for Anyone Who is Troubled as He Was.

"Tanlac has helped me wonderfully and I know it will help anyone who is troubled as I was if they will give it a fair show." This was the straightforward statement of Herbert L. Prout, awning maker, of Shepley Street, Auburn.

"I suffered badly from indigestion and stomach trouble," Mr. Prout continued. "Gas" continually formed from fermented food and distressed me. I never seemed to be free from this condition. Loss of sleep finally made me very nervous. I got so I very seldom slept the whole night through.

"After I began to take Tanlac my food began to really benefit me, because it was being properly digested. The gas formations became less at once. My sleeplessness grew less and later disappeared. I can now eat without fear of distress."

Tanlac now is being specially introduced in Norway at F. P. Stone's drug store. There Tanlac agents are Eugene Tenney, Bridgeton, F. E. Stevens; Waterford, L. R. Rounds; West Waterford, R. E. Pinkham; East Paris, S. T. White.

Who is the next week on account of her approaching marriage to Arthur P. Foss of Portland, comptroller of the M. C. R. R. Each guest arrayed herself in finery and a style dating back to our great grandfathers. An old fashioned tin type was carried bearing the likeness of the man in the case, and a prize was offered to the spinster who could relate the most improbable love story or alibi for the sad single life condition.

Miss Young as judge in this contest had difficulty in awarding with justice and equity for each story was so "human". Mildred Holmes with her three suitors secured the reward, a large card-board man. Some Enlightening Figures on the Food Value of WILLIAM TELL Flour

A 24½-lb. sack of William Tell Flour costs just as much in actual food value as this entire list of other foods:

1/2 bu. potatoes @ $2.50	$1.25
2 lbs. butter @ 40c	80
5 cts. milk @ 8c	40
3 lbs. beef steaks @ 28c	84
2 1/2 lbs. cheese @ 30c	75
3 1/2 doz. eggs @ 40c	1.40
5 lbs. sugar @ 8c	40
1 1/2 lbs. rice @ 10c	15
Total cost	$5.84

The 24½-lb. sack of William Tell Flour, even at the rate of $11.00 per barrel, costs you only about $1.40.

This comparison is based on figures of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Bulletin 142. The prices are average market prices of today.

For economy's sake, use more flour, and in using more flour, choose a flour with a flavor. That's one reason why I use William Tell for everything. It takes the ache out of bake and puts the flavor in. It's made in Ohio, right in the Miami Valley, where the rich limestone soil gives it a delicious flavor and wonderful baking qualities.

Graduation Parts
Principal W. E. Sargent announced, Monday noon, the awarding of commencement parts to members of the senior class. The class order will be Robert D. Allen of Amesbury, Mass. Young Alfred is a two-year student at Hebron, transferring at the end of his sophomore year from the Amesbury public schools. He is a pleasing and polished speaker, and has been frequently called upon at the many dinner functions of the school. He was a member of the debating team that met Rumford high school, Friday. He has held many school offices, among them secretary of the Athletic association, president of the senior class and senior member of the student council.

The class history will be delivered by J. Marie Murch of South Casco. Miss Murch has spent the entire four years of her preparatory school course at Hebron, and is thus familiar with all the happy incidents that have enlivened the whole period of the class's history. She spoke of the same subject at the annual banquet of the class at Poland Spring.

It has long been a custom at Hebron to make the class prophecy a dialogue between a boy and a girl. This year the speakers of this part will be Miss Elizabeth Johnson of Wayne and Avery Webster of North Haven. Both have the imaginative ability requisite for the part, and an original, interesting production is expected from the combined efforts.

Norman D. Dunbar of Kittery, the wit of the class, has been awarded the humorous role of presenting the usual gifts to chosen members of the class. Dunbar has spent three years at the academy, during which time he has been prominent in various activities. He has shown his cleverness in tasks similar to the one now assigned him by twice taking the prize for the best clown at the annual gymnasium exhibition.

The address to the undergraduates will be delivered by William W. Armstrong of Brockton. He is one of the more mature students of the school, who takes a broad interest in public affairs, and is in a position to give advice to the lower classmen.

The valedictory and salutatory honors, which are awarded to the two highest ranking members of the class, will not be announced until the middle of the spring term pursuant to a custom that has pertained for many years. The six young people, whose names appear above, will deliver their parts on Tuesday of commencement week. The valedictory are spoken on Wednesday, together with essays chosen from those required to be written by all members of the class.

There was a large crowd of people at the Antiquarian Supper and Operetta at Concert Hall given by the Universalist Circle, Tuesday evening. It was an old fashioned supper and the waiters were dressed in costumes of the old days. After supper the operetta, "The Seven Old Ladies of Lavender Town" was listened to.

Mrs. Sally Pratt, aged 96 years, was thought a few months ago to be near her end, but by kind, judicious treatment and careful nursing she has revived so as to be about the house and even go out of doors when pleasant. She was one of the pioneers of Oxford and possessed great power of body and mind, both as a housewife and financier. She was the wife of Jacob D. Brown and after his death, married Zebedee Pratt, a soldier of 1812, for whom she draws a pension.

Stuart-Cole Action Settled Reports have been made at this March term at Paris in two suits brought by J. H. Stuart of South Paris at the October term. One against M. W. Sampson of Norway for trespass, the other, a "real action," against Sarah E. Cole of Norway, widow of George Cole.

This suit was to secure possession of a small strip of land along the border of the outlet of Pennesseewassee Lake, between land formerly owned by George A. Cole and the bed of the stream. On the disputed strip are a portion of the structures known as the Cole boat house and wharf.

Both cases were referred to Chief Justice Savage and Justice George E. Bird, who came last November, viewed the premises, and gave a hearing, at which a number of Norway people were witnesses, the proceedings taking two full days.

In the case against Mrs. Cole the referees report "that the defendant is the owner of the land described in the declaration, and not disclaimed, as far as to the threat of the stream in the mill pond, by adverse possession, but subject to the right of flowage and storing logs in the pond. We therefore award judgment for the defendant, and that she recover her costs of court to be taxed by the court."

In the Sampson case the award is: "It is shown that Sarah E. Cole, under whom the defendant justifies, is the owner of the premises upon which the acts of alleged trespass were committed. Accordingly we find for the defendant."

Interscholastic Debate at Norway The Norway High School building was the scene Friday evening of an interscholastic debate between Norway High School and Lewiston Institute of Turner. This debate was one of a series of Bates College Interscholastic Debating League, which comprises three divisions of three schools each. All the debates are on the following question:

"Resolved, That the federal government should own and operate the railroads within the United States."

Program as follows, Norway having the affirmative:

Prayer:.....Rev. H. L. Nichols
Debate Speakers: Leavitt
Norway:.....Chas. Skilling
Virginia Mixer
Leona Sloan
William Burbank
Esther Pike
Alternates:
Elva Perry
Walter Wilson

The judges were Albert D. Park, J. Hastings Bean and Harry M. Shaw all of South Paris. They gave a unanimous decision in favor of Norway High School with mention of Esther Pike as the best individual debater, said verdict being given without consultation.

All conceded that the young ladies had the better argument, considered from every angle. They excelled in stage presentation, eloquence and bright convincing subject matter. In rebuttal they were more than a match for their male opponents. Each debater had ten minutes in direct debate and five minutes in which to answer in rebuttal.

On the same evening the negative team met Deering High at Deering and were defeated by a vote 2-1. In the team were Leslie Gibson, Katherine H. Jones, Arthur C. Bartlett, Alternates, Hugh Pendexter, Jr. They based their argument largely on three points, namely, "that government ownership is unnecessary, undesirable and inexpedient." Enlarging the interstate commerce commission powers was recommended.

At this writing there is every indication of six weeks' sledding in March.

SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT

Hiram Steeves of Mexico was taken to Thomaston to begin a sentence of not less than two nor more than five years in state prison, imposed at a former term after conviction for bigamy. The case was appealed, and the appeal was overruled by the law court.

Meanwhile Steeves had left Mexico and gone into New Brunswick, where he formerly lived. On Wednesday of last week he was arrested on the train as it was going to Rumford. He told the officers that he thought all the officials would be at Paris, and it would be safe for him to go to Mexico and see his wife.

Tuesday was a great run day with three cases going to the jury for their decision.

Joe Mercier failed to appear to the summons and his bail was defaulted.

Philip Feola of Rumford pleaded not guilty to the charge of common seller and his case occupied the forenoon, the jury going out at 12:15. This was a Smith's Crossing affair where ale, lager and whiskey is alleged to have been delivered to Feola in large quantities.

So large amounts were received, as shown by the Maine alcohol bills of lading and American Company express sheets that this led to the charge. County Attorney Blanchard vigorously presented the facts while George Hutchins watched carefully for the respondent. Hand writing identification figured strongly also the personal knowledge of the contents in several boxes and kegs. A verdict of not guilty was returned.

Maxim Dan, a Polander of Mexico, also pleaded not guilty to the charge of common seller and nuisance. A. P. White, M. C. R. R. freight agent, offered a stack of documents showing large shipments alleged to contain bottled ale and beer, kegs and boxes of fluid to the respondent. One McCloud, who divers freight and express in Mexico, testified to leaving this product at Dan's home, averaging two visits a week. It was learned from the testimony that Dan, in common with others of that nationality, is a star beer drinker and consumes large quantities when not at work in the Oxford Mill. His family numbers six and a boarder. This fact contributes to the unusual amount of liquid refreshment required, especially in hot weather. Many friends also came in on the deal, who were not slow to show their appreciation of a long cool draught when invited.

No arguments were offered by either side and the court instructed the foreman to return a verdict of not guilty, without leaving their places, the testimony offered by the State not proving the charges involved. This case moved slowly as the respondent and his witnesses were not familiar with the English language, requiring a competent interpreter.

In the assault case of Russell and Robert Irving and James McBurlin, only Imman appeared. Irving pleaded guilty on a similar charge earlier in the week and McBurlin skipped before Officer L. L. Niles could make an arrest Monday.

The alleged trouble occurred one Sunday evening in February, at that part of Rumford, known as "Virginia." During the afternoon the three young men inebriated more or less "red-fire" as the testimony showed, and started out to clean up somebody. About 6:30 the trio made an attempt to enter the house it is alleged chased a young man to his home after having a scrap in the highway with an older brother. Xernia Boivin, hearing the noise, went into the road to invite the intruders away, whereupon it is charged that McBurlin knocked him down and Irving pounced on afterward.

Boivin got away to his shed and returned with an ax handle to use in self defense. In some manner unknown, this weapon was wrested from its owner's hands and used freely by one of the assailants over Boivin's head it is charged, inflicting bruises and other damage that brought on a mental infirmess. According to some of the testimony, Imman was not mixed in this affair, but a quiet spectator on the side.

Witnesses could not agree on essentials and it was evident at times that as McBurlin, who is in parts unknown, proved a handy goat for an alibi. The rough elements in this rumput was passed over to his credit.

SOUTH WATERFORD.

Interesting History of Maine Boy in the Navy

Samuel G. Craig of Farmington, son of Mrs. Mary (Atherton) Craig, and grandson of John Atherton, recently deceased, is in his early manhood scoring enviable success in his efforts to acquire a fitting education in practical science, which has commended him to the honorable notice of the Naval authorities and brought promotion in the line of official preference. Young Craig is well known in South Waterford from his earliest childhood and has been noted for his natural predilection for mechanics and in late years for his developing genius for electrical study and invention. He enlisted in the Navy before he was 17 years old in Boston, but lacking a few pounds of the requisite weight, he returned home for a few weeks until he gained the proper weight, when he returned to Boston and was accepted as an apprentice electrician in that city. He graduated in five months and enlisted as electrician and has done some work on wireless. He has served on Reserve ships at Vera Cruz three years ago. He has served on Reserve ships most of the time. Last summer he superintended the installation of batteries on ships under construction at the Quincy, Mass., shipyard. He is an expert sailor on the U. S. S. Cushing, a torpedo boat, built at Fore River ship yard, under commission about two years. The Cushing is 315 feet long; 25 ft. beam, has speed 32.6 knots per hour; 24,000 horse power; Curtiss turbines; 40 4-inch rapid fire guns, 12 double torpedo tubes. Officer Craig is now in Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, with the Atlantic fleet. In a recent letter to his mother he says: "We are all cleared for action with munition enough to blow up the whole city of New York; 5 big dreadnaughts, most powerful in the world; 20 battleships and 36 destroyers; 12 cruisers, and auxiliaries on his destroyer." His destroyer was ready for use, also ammunition at the guns; said he went over all of his electric circuits that day and they were all in perfect working order; by pressing a button, he could send to any ship or what-ever it may be to be destroyed, 8 torpedoes loaded with the highest explosives known.

GEORGE F. HILL, Prop.

WHY A PIANO?

We are HAPPIEST when our lives are FULLY ROUNDED OUT by the proper experiences, and if we don't include ART in those experiences, we have missed the combination. MUSIC is just as much needed in our home—in ANY home—as different foods are at a meal. We can't get along on bread alone, or meat alone, or anything else by itself. And we can't say that we have lived up to our full measure without music. The PIANO is an essential in your home—because its results is an important part of Happiness. And to be Happy is to have secured the best that life holds.

Ladies' Boots for $3.00

We have a large lot of Ladies' Button Boots, Gun Metal and Patent Kid, both high and low heels, all sizes from 1 to 8, D and E width, which we are selling for $3.00 per pair. These boots were bought on a low market and for that reason we are able to sell them for this price. These same boots on today's market would cost $4.00 or $4.50 and when these are sold we will have to get that price for the same quality, and manufacturers tell us that prices are going still higher. We have about 500 pairs of these boots, but they are selling rapidly. It is a good time to buy them now.

No Eggs, Milk or Butter

The following recipe shows how an appetizing, wholesome cake can be made without expensive ingredients.

In many other recipes the number of eggs may be reduced one-half or more by using an additional quantity of ROYAL Baking Powder, about a teaspoon, in place of each egg omitted.

EGGLESS, MILKLESS, BUTTERLESS CAKE

1 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup water
1 cup seeded raisins
2 ounces citron
1/2 cup shortening

1 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups flour
5 teaspoon Royal Baking Powder

The old method (fruit cake) called for 2 eggs

DIRECTIONS—Put the first eight ingredients into saucepan and boil three minutes. When cool, add the flour and baking powder which have been sifted together; mix well. Bake in moderate oven in loaf pan (round tin with hole in center is best) for 35 or 40 minutes. Ice with white icing.

Booklet of recipes which economize in eggs and other expensive ingredients, mailed free. Address Royal Baking Powder Co., 135 William Street, New York.

WEST SUMMER

The G. A. R. Relief Corps was a great success in the dinner and sale of Mar. 15. Mrs. Ruth Crockett, who has been so very sick with pneumonia, is convalescing.

Edwin Doble of Buffalo, N. Y., is expected home to see his mother, who is ill. There are many sick ones in the place. We are glad to learn Mrs. John Bonney will serve as superintendent of schools.

WEST PARIS

Dr. Octavius King Yates, M. D., passed away from his home on Greenwood street Sunday at 5:30 p. m., March 18. Dr. Yates received a paralytic shock a year ago the last of Feb. and although he has been confined to the house, unable to walk except with crutches since then, his going out was quite sudden finally.

Last week, Thursday evening, he was taken with another shock and his whole right side was paralyzed and he could not speak. In the few days that followed before the end, he received and knew his friends, who came to see him.

He was born in Greenwood, Sept. 25, 1831. His parents were James and Emma Yates. When a boy, he was eager for an education and endured many privations and walked long distances to attend school. In 1851 he graduated from the Maine Medical College at Portland.

In July, 1852 he married Elizabeth Doren Felt of Locke's Mills, where they lived for a time and he worked in a furniture manufactory. From there they moved to Norway for a time, from there to Auburn where he drove a hack, then into a restaurant, neither of these occupations were suited to his health and they moved back to Locke's Mills.

About this time the Civil War broke out and he enlisted as a recruiting officer. Very many have heard him recount his experiences at Ford's Theater when Lincoln was assassinated.

When the war closed he went into the oil regions in Canada-West, where he remained for two years, invested in stock there which became valuable in later years.

On his return to Locke's Mills his boyhood wish for a physician's education became a determination and after all these years since his graduation at Gould's Academy, they moved to Portland and there he studied under Dr. Tewksbury, who was at that time one of the leading physicians in the State, for a year or two, then he entered Bowdoin Medical school for a four years' course graduating in 1870.

He then came to West Paris where he has lived ever since and had a most successful and busy practice. During his earlier years before the hospitals were of surgical work. If he had a specialty, as most all professions do have, it was confinement and pneumonia cases.

He was kind to the less fortunate, courteous and friendly with all. His last call, a year ago, took him sixteen miles out over the country roads and during the past year, in his helplessness, he has advised many a one and dealt out one or another of his private formula tablets.

His circle of friends and acquaintances have been of the largest and many have visited him during the year past. His family covered carriage and peculiar sleighs, carrying his more familiar face and form has been missed and will continue to be missed for many another year.

Dr. and Mrs. Yates were blessed with four children, two dying in infancy. Llewellyn, the oldest, lived to be 23 years old and Myrtle, the youngest, who was the first wife of Dr. P. B. Wheeler of this place, was 26 years old when she died, some sixteen years ago. Now Mrs. Yates is left all alone in her 83rd year with no relative nearer than nieces and nephews, and a son-in-law.

A funeral was held at his late home Wednesday p. m., Rev. D. A. Ball officiating. The Doctor was a member of the Masons and he was always interested in the affairs of the town and country. The flowers were many and very beautiful.

The drama "Country Folks" given by the Junior class W. P. High School last Saturday night was a decided success. The cast of characters are as follows:

Joshua Dean.....Howard Conant
Mrs. Martha Dean.....Mabelle Allen
Nathaniel Dean.....Earl Bacon
Polly Dean, their daughter.....Mildred Conant
Laura Lane, engaged to son.....Laura Emery
Oasis Schuyler.....Herbert Gardner
Prudence Schuyler, his daughter and Lorna Lane's rival.....Lillian Wheeler
Peter Patch, wait and chore boy.....Earl Hall
Mrs. Alvina Berry, a widow who turned out to be a fortune teller.....Lucy Edwards
Jake Dremer, barkeeper.....Herbert Gardner
Horatio Finch, a returned judge.....

The scene is laid at the home of Joshua Dean of 1898 and was played in three acts. It would be hard to tell which character did best. Each of them seemed to be assigned the part that naturally best suited to that one and each did equally well as the other, but of course as in all such performances, the one who excites the most comment is the one who takes the comical part, and in this case it was Earle Hollis, who knew how to make the audience laugh. Mrs. Alice Wood coached the play and they certainly did credit to her teaching. The Grange Hall was packed full in spite of the stormy night. There were piano solos by Hazel Clark and a character song duet, vaudeville style, "Can't give your heart to somebody else," by Marjorie McAllister and Earle Bacon, were the specialties between acts.

An all day picnic meeting this week, Saturday with a picnic dinner. The program for the afternoon will consist of singing, by all, "Our Grange is Marching On." Each member is expected to bring "In Remembrance" or "On Present Work" or "Visions in the Future of the Grange." Question, "Is the Grange doing as good work as in former years?" Instrumental music, songs, recitations and readings will be interspersed. The lecturer will give a reading on the "Good of the Order."

The prizes awarded at the speaking contest last week were: first, a gold medal, second, a silver medal and third, a bronze medal. Marjorie McAllister was awarded the gold medal. Last week's item said she received a gold watch, which was wrong. The names of those who gave the money for prizes were Frederick R. Penley, Dr. F. E. Wheeler, Edwin J. Mann and Lewis M. Mann.

Rev. G. H. Hamlin, D. D., one of the Baptist State Secretaries, also a retired missionary from India, is expected here to preach at the Baptist church Sunday morning and evening. The evening service is to be a continuation of the union with the Methodists. Dr. Hamlin will be in the place several days in the interest of the church here and there will be a meeting at the church Tuesday evening, when all the United Baptist church members and all who are interested in it are requested to attend.

Lucy Everett, who has been here with her parents all winter, has gone to Readfield to teach school.

The Ladies' Social Circle of the Baptist church are planning to have their annual sale and entertainment next week, Thursday evening, March 29. There will be the usual apron and fancy work, food and candy for sale. The entertainment will consist of instrumental music, duet and quartette, a dialogue by four girls and a farce entitled, "Local and Long Distance" with the following characters: George Davis, Jr., home from Yale. Mrs. Davis, his mother. Mrs. Minnie Day, Neighbors. Mrs. May Emery, Mrs. Stewart Jones. Mrs. Polly Cole, Mrs. White. Mrs. Alice Berry, Miss Shide. Mrs. Mary Stetson, Kitty Parsons. Miss Cole

BETHEL

Death of Real Daughter of the Revolution Miss Phoebe Buxton died at the home of Miss Lydia Blake Tuesday morning at one o'clock. If she had lived three weeks longer she would have been ninety-two.

She was born in Cumberland and educated in Bridgton and Salem, Mass. She was a great reader and probably no one was more interested in the affairs of the State and nation than she up to the time she was taken sick about three months ago. She was deeply interested in the temperance cause and a member of the W. C. T. U. She did lots of good in her quiet way.

She has been living with Miss Blake about two years and a half. She leaves no near relatives. Miss Buxton's father was William Buxton and was a soldier in the Revolutionary war, her mother, Hannah Prince Buxton, of Cumberland.

Zero here at 7 o'clock Monday morning.

All who have been ill of the grip or bad colds, are convalescent. Ingalls McAllister has built for himself a two seated sleigh. Sunday he took his family to visit with friends at West Bethel.

Alton Hutchinson resumed his studies at Gould's Tuesday, after a week's recess at home.

Herbert M. Kendall and daughter, Rita, of Newry, called on relatives in the place, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crosby from the steam mill, were in this place, March 12th.

The Lyon Bros. from Bethel, were at the farm, Sunday.

Ernest Cross and son are taking down the late D. M. Grover barn, which Mr. Cross purchased of Misses Herrick and Park.

Lyman Wheeler sawed wood for A. B. Grover and also for R. R. Mayberry, a day or two last week.

Kimball Hill

W. W. Brinck has finished work at Newry and is at home.

Irvin Farrar spent a few days with his family at W. E. Coolidge's, recently.

Care of the Teeth

The water used for cleaning the teeth should be neither too hot nor too cold. Tepid water is best, and a small, fairly stiff brush chosen, but bristles should not be too hard or they will irritate the gums and perfectly healthy gums are essential to the well being of the teeth.

When cleaning the teeth, give as much attention to the backs of the front teeth as upon the fronts, and ever more care in cleaning the backs of molars, as particles of food are more likely to lodge in their crevices than in those of the front, and if left in the mouth will set up decay.

At the first sign of any tartar forming upon a tooth, remove it by application of powdered magnesia or have it removed by a reliable dentist.
